

The IGF and IGFSAs

The Internet Governance Forum (IGF) has proven its worth to the international community and to all those who are committed to an open, thriving, and accessible Internet. The open and inclusive dialogue and debate that it provides is critical to the Internet's continued evolution. The IGF by now is the major annual event for all stakeholders to gather as equals and discuss Internet policy related issues. In 2015 the United Nations General Assembly recognized the value of the IGF and extended its mandate for another 10 years. Part of the IGF success story is the growth of National and Regional IGF Initiatives (NRIs) in all continents, triggered off by the global IGF.

The IGF is funded through voluntary contributions and therefore in constant need of funding. IGFSAs purpose is to promote and support the global IGF as well as NRIs. It is a not-for-profit association incorporated in Switzerland created to broaden the donor base and to provide stable and predictable funding from individuals and entities who want to support the IGF as well as the NRIs. IGFSAs aim to build on and complement existing funding sources and strengthen the linkages between the global IGF and the NRIs and provides financial support for the IGF Secretariat through contributions to the UN IGF Trust Fund.

IGFSAs role as a channel for additional funding for the IGF Trust Fund has been recognized by the UN through an exchange of letters. To date, IGFSAs have contributed USD 270,000 to the UN IGF Trust Fund and USD 344,000 to the NRIs.

Reinforcing the NRI Landscape

National and Regional IGF Initiatives (NRIs) are a major outcome of the IGF. They were not planned, but emerged spontaneously on all continents. What they have in common with the global IGF is their multistakeholder, bottom-up, open and inclusive character. Good Internet governance starts at the national and regional levels and the NRIs can thus provide feedback from the grassroots and provide input into the program for the annual Global IGF in a true bottom-up process. Strengthening the linkages between the NRIs and the global IGF is part of the core IGFSAs mission.

Since its inception in 2014 the IGFSAs was able to make 36 financial contributions to Regional and Sub-Regional and 104 contributions to National IGF Initiatives. NRIs require significant support in the form of human and financial resources. IGFSAs will continue to provide support to NRIs, providing USD 3500 for Regional and Sub-Regional and USD 2000 USD for National IGF Initiatives. (The list of the NRIs who benefited from IGFSAs sponsorship is available on page 2).

IGFSAs works closely with the IGF Secretariat to promote and identify Initiatives that would benefit from our support.

"We are grateful to the IGFSAs for supporting the logistics of the first national IGF in the English speaking Caribbean. To ensure the broadest participation, we innovated with a YouTube Live channel to stream the event beyond the confines of the physical location, and support remote participants with full participation. This TTIGF was extremely well received, and has been recognized as a leading IG event in the entire English speaking Caribbean. We are already planning the 2018 TTIGF, and are working with other countries in the region to share our IGF planning process." -T&T IGF
