

Brian Cute

Brian is a mission-driven professional with 15+ years of global experience leading and growing non-profit and for-profit online technology providers including Internet and telecom service providers. Brian has worked in government, industry, and civil society organizations. He has executive experience as CEO of non-profit registry operator of the .ORG Internet address. He has a proven track record of defining strategies that deliver innovation, growth and building strategic partnerships that result in mutually beneficial outcomes. Brian has worked in the Internet domain name industry at senior levels for Top Level Domain registry and registrar service providers. He has been an active participant in ICANN's bottom up, multi-stakeholder policy development process. He began his career as a telecommunications lawyer focusing on international infrastructure and services issues.